AWAITING BURIAL.

The Dead Vice President at His Home.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 27.—The late Hon. Thomas A. Hendricks lies in an upper room at his home, in this city. His body has been embalmed and a cast was taken of the statesman's face by R. H. Parks, the sculptor. After this came the arrangements for the obsequies, the time being determinedly fixed for the coming Tuesday, at 12 noon. The casket ordered is that known as the State pattern, made of cedar, covered outside with fine black cloth, and trimmed with solid silver, the plate simply bearing the inscription "Thomas A. Hendricks," with age and date of death. Satin lining will be used for the inside. The casket was expected this afternoon, when the remains will be placed in it and taken down to the drawing-room. There the remains will stay until they are removed to the court house rotunda, Sunday noon, where they will lie in state until Monday evening, and then be returned to the residence. In state, the head will be to the east, from which side of the building observers are to enter, going funeral of Senator Morton and Governor Conrad Baker, drawn by six black horses, with rich trappings, and a man at the head of each.

Gov. I. P. Gray has issued a proclamation recounting the triumphs of the dead statesman and extolling his virtues. The governor closes:

Therefore, I, Isaac P. Gray, governor of the state of Indiana, do hereby issue this proclamation, requesting that at the hour of 12 o'clock, noon, of the 1st day of December, 1885, the day set apart for the funeral of the distinguished dead, all citizens meet in their usual places of worship and public places of assemblage and there engage in such services as may to them seem appropriate to the solemn occasion; the flags on all public buildings of the state be displayed at half mast, and all places of business be closed from said hour until the hour of 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and reconvening that all public buildings of the state be draped in mourning for a period of thirty days from this date, and that during the day aforesaid, all such buildings be closed and that all public business be suspended, to the end and for the purpose that the people may have and enjoy the fullest opportunity to do honor to the departed statesman and make recognition of his public and private virtues as may to them seem best and most consistent.

The adjutant general will prepare and have issued all necessary orders to the various military organization to meet at their respective armories for appropriate military honors to be made during the day.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand, and caused to be affixed the seal of the state, at the city of Indianapolis, this 26th day of November, A. D. 1885, and in the sixty-ninth year of the state, and in the one hundred and tenth year of the independence of the United States. ISAAC P. GRAY.

By the Governor:
W. R. MYERS, Secretary of State.

MILAN SCHEMING.

He Secretly Goes to Austria.

By Cable to THE SENTINEL.

VIENNA, Nov. 27.—It is rumored here that King Milan, of Servia, has secretly visited the emperor of Austria for the purpose of securing assistance.

MADRID, Nov. 27.—A state of siege has been proclaimed in the provinces of Barcelona and Cartagena and the Canary islands. Dispatches from all points, however, report a tranquil state of affairs.

STILL EXCITED.

Election Scenes in Great Britain.

By Cable to THE SENTINEL.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Excited crowds of men still throng the streets of Knottingham and have again commenced rioting. The results of elections so far are 117 liberals, 112 tories and ten nationalists, and show a gain of six for liberals and thirty for tories.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—The returns so far received show that 117 liberals, 118 conservatives and 14 nationalists have been elected.

THEY ARE STIFF.

Eight Indians are Hanged for Murder.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

BATTFORD, N. W. T., Nov. 27.—The execution of eight Indians found guilty of murder at Frog Lake and Battfrod occurred at 8:30 this morning. The mechanism of the scaffold was without friction. Of the eight hanged here this morning, seven were active participants in the horrible massacre of Frog Lake, on the 3d of April last. The work was commenced by Wandering's spirit and was afterwards carried on until the white people of Frog Lake settlement were almost exterminated. The victims were Thomas Quinn, an Indian agent; Charles Gouin, an American halfbreed; John Delany, farm instructor; Gowan Lock, Miller Dill, Williscraft Gilchrist, Fathers Marchand and Freard. The wives of the murdered men were taken captive but finally released.

A LABOR RIOT.

Striking Miners Seize a Property.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 27.—It is just announced here that a riot at the fourth pool, between strikers and non-union miners, took place this morning. Two hundred strikers are in possession of the mines. A number of men are injured. The police were compelled to retreat. Both sides have sent for reinforcements.

Niel had 100 men at work last night. When they attempted to return to work, they were driven back with sticks and stones. Quite a number were badly hurt, but none fatally. Robert McClure, of the iron and coal police, with six special officers, were on hand and made an effort to check the rioters by using their revolvers, but they retreated to await reinforcements. Sheriff Chambers, of Washington county, has been telegraphed for by the officers.

The Storm Abates.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—The storm which has raged for several days subsided yesterday. At Crescent Beach the principal hotel was almost completely demolished. The tide tore down the piazzas and as the waters rose higher the surf broke with full force against the side of the house. The front and side were dashed to pieces by the force of the waves which reached as high as the second story.

Trouble Expected in Spain.

By Cable to THE SENTINEL.

PARIS, Nov. 27.—The Carlos chiefs in this city have received a number of telegrams from Don Carlos. ## THE LAST SCENES

About the Dead Vice President.

His Significant Remark, "I Am Free at Last," a Few Moments Before His Death.

Incidents of the Life of the Great Statesman--His Friends Testify Their Esteem.

Death of Hon. T. A. Hendricks.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 26.—Indianapolis mourns the death of Mr. Hendricks as she did eight years ago this month, when Senator Morton died after a lingering illness. In the case of Vice President Hendricks, however, the sorrow is intensified by the shock that comes when a man in the full possession of his powers is suddenly cut off.

THE PEOPLE OF INDIANA RECEIVED THE NEWS OF THE DEATH OF MR. HENDRICKS WITH INCREDULITY, FOR HE HAD BEEN SEEN IN HIS MISTRESS WITHIN TWENTY-FOUR HOURS IN APPARENT GOOD HEALTH, AND BEARING IN HIS PRESENCE NO INDICATION THAT DEATH WOULD SO SOON CLAIM HIM. INCREDOULY SOON GAVE WAY TO CONVICTION WHEN THE TRUTH WAS ADMITTED.

THE FACTS IN CONNECTION WITH THE DEATH OF THE VICE PRESIDENT ARE FEW, FOR HE DIED ALONE IN HIS BED-ROOM, WHERE HIS DEVOTED WIFE HAD SPENT MOST OF THE DAY IN COMPANY WITH HIM. LAST WEEK THEY HAD VISITED CHICAGO IN COMPANY WITH FRIENDS, RETURNING HOME ON SATURDAY SOMETHING UNDISPRESSED.

AT THE RECEPTION TUESDAY, HOWEVER, HE APPEARED UNUSUALLY cheerful, AND REMAINED MUCH LATER THAN WAS HIS CUSTOM ON SUCH OCCASIONS.

THE NEWS OF MR. HENDRICKS' DEATH SPREAD RAPIDLY THROUGHOUT THE CITY, AND THERE WAS A GENERAL EXPRESSION OF SORROW OVER IT.

THOSE WHO KNEW HIM WELL, HOWEVER,

WERE HIS PERSONAL FRIENDS, AND TO EVERYBODY WHO CALLED ON HIM OR MET HIM HAD A PLEASANT WORD AND GREETING. THERE WERE CROWDS AROUND THE BULLETIN BOARDS DOWN TOWN ALL THE EVENING, WHILE IN THE VICINITY OF HIS RESIDENCE THERE WAS ANOTHER CROWD, ALL ANXIOUS TO LEARN THE PARTICULARS OF HIS Sudden DEATH.

CIVIL-SERVICE REFORM.

Civil-service reform comes hard, because the evils against which it is aimed have been long entrenched in the body politic and can only be removed by heroic treatment. Because an abuse is of long standing, however, is no reason why it should be tolerated, and the assertion of such a principle is without rhyme or reason. Diseases which afflict the human body are not looked upon as blessings because long endured, nor should those which afflict the state be considered so. Everything which is inconsistent with the most perfect working of the body and government must be gotten rid of, such, at least, is the belief of Mr. W. D. Murphy, of No. 310 Yandes street, Indianapolis, who has recently been cured of rheumatism of twenty-five years' standing by that great remedy, Athlophorus. Age gave the disease no charm in his eyes, and he swept it away at the first opportunity. He himself tells all about the matter in this way:

"My rheumatism dates way back about twenty-five years. I first contracted it in the war, in which I served four years and six months. After returning home from service the disease seemed to assume a periodical form. I would have at least two severe attacks every year, but even between these attacks I would suffer all the time. These attacks prevented me from getting about, and many times I could not walk or get out of bed. They would catch me in the legs so that after standing awhile I would feel suddenly weak and in danger of falling."

"Was it during one of these attacks that you used Athlophorus?" Mr. Murphy was asked.

"Yes; that's the time and that's when it did its work for me. I saw it advertised and sent to B. Brechin, the druggist on Columbia avenue, for a bottle. It was in the afternoon I took the first dose and then at night I took another. I slept soundly that night. The next morning when I awoke I had no pain. I took a few doses more, only using about two-thirds of a bottle altogether and my rheumatism was all gone. That is over a year ago and I have only felt a little twinge of the pain since, but nothing to speak of."

"Do you know of any others who have used Athlophorus?"

"Yes. I have recommended it to many different persons. My confidence was so great in the medicine that in several instances I have bought bottles of it and given them to people, saving at the time that if it did not do its work they need not pay for it; but there is not a single case in which I did not have my money within a week. There is Mrs. Wright, an aged lady of seventy, living a few miles from here, who, after suffering from rheumatic pains for fifteen years, was entirely rid of all pain by three or four bottles of Athlophorus. I recommended another lady who was supposed to be suffering from dyspepsia, but who in reality had neuralgia of the stomach, to try Athlophorus, and it soon cured her. My neighbor, who had a severe attack of neuralgia, his face being swollen out of all shape, was cured by a few doses. My confidence in Athlophorus is very strong, and I believe that if any one suffering with rheumatism or neuralgia will take it right it will cure ninety-nine cases out of a hundred. It is worth $100 a bottle to every sufferer from rheumatism."

If you cannot get Athlophorus of your druggist, we will send it express paid, on receipt of regular price—one dollar per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he has none in your town, try Athlophorus elsewhere, but order it direct from us, as directed. ATHLOPHORUS CO., 112 Wall Street, New York.

DEATH OF HON. T. A. HENDRICKS.

The news of the death of Hon. Thomas A. Hendricks, vice president of the United States, and Indiana's favorite son, created the most profound sorrow in Fort Wayne, where the distinguished statesman was so well known and so universally honored and esteemed. No man has won a warmer place in the hearts of the people of this commonwealth, and none had the confidence of the populace as did Mr. Hendricks. His public career, dating from his participation in the Indiana constitutional convention to the moment of his death, was entirely free from blame and no man ever dared question the sincerity of his motives. He was firm in his political opinions, differing occasionally on questions of policy, but always true to his party and the best interests of the state and nation. The death of Mr. Hendricks is unfortunate for Indiana. It deprives her of a vice president, and an honored citizen whose great attainments has given him a world wide reputation.

The tears, sorrows and prayers of the people of Fort Wayne and Allen county go with the distinguished dead to his grave and with the nation all people mourn his loss.

DISPATCHeS from Paris say that M. de Lesseps has renewed his application to the French Government for permission to issue new Panama Canal bonds to the amount of $120,000,000 upon the lottery plan, and has explained that the money is required to cover "expenses in excess of the original estimates." Inasmuch as the original estimate of the entire cost was $120,000,000, this admission that the sum must be doubled now, although only a comparatively small part of the work has been done, is full of meaning to investors and others who are acquainted with the condition of the enterprise. The publication of carefully prepared statements about work on the canal and its probable cost has had some effect upon the market for canal shares. In June last these shares were selling at 48 francs on the Paris Bourse. Since that date their value has been falling. In August they were quoted at 43 francs. One week ago the price had fallen to 38 francs, and Saturday last it was only 38 francs. The eyes of some of the shareholders appear to have been opened. Our naval officers recently reported from Panama to the department at Washington that work on the canal was at a standstill at the Pacific end of the route.

JUDGE VINCENT, late Chief Justice of New Mexico, who was removed by President Cleveland, is now in Washington. The Washington correspondent of the Cleveland Leader says: "He is a tall, well-formed, clean-cut fellow, with a face as rosy as that of a milk-maid, a bright eye which looks into yours as he talks, a blonde mustache which is trimmed more in the style of a New York dandy than that of a wild Western pioneer. Judicial honors do not seem to sit very heavily on his shoulders, and I looked in vain for the gravity and age which pertain to the usual Supreme Judge. Vincent was the boy Supreme Judge of the United States. He is not over 28, and he hardly looks to be that. I talked to him about his case, but he was not willing that anything should be published at present in regard to it.

The occasion was observed in this city with some degree of sorrow, occasioned by the death of Vice President Hendricks. In the churches, however, services were held and many people attended divine worship. At noon attention turned to turkey and families sat down in pleasant reunion to feast and give thanks to Almighty God for the blessings of a year.

The saloons were all open and turkey, salads and other toothsome dishes were spread before people who smile on the tempting stuff that down many a good man.

The day passed quietly and nothing occurred to mar the serenity of the occasion.

They Gave Thanks.

A WRITER in Chambers' Journal, describing an Elizabethan dinner, says the first course was stewed broth, gruel or hotchpotch. The second was game, and the third Quaker pudding, bag marrow, and black pudding. Then came veal, fowl, and game. The fifth course was cheese, cakes, custards, jellies and syllabubs. Elizabeth herself was no mean eater.

PRESIDENT ELIOT, of Harvard University, was a widower when he heard Grace Osgood sing at a private concert. He fell in love at sight, was introduced next day, engaged the next week and married the next month. His salary is $4,000 a year.

APROPOS of Ben Perley Poore's recent severe illness, the New York Star recalls that once, when threatened with Bright's disease, his only chance for life, he was told, was dieting. He accepted it, and bon vivant though he is, lived for nearly two years on stale bread and skim milk, after which time he was pronounced cured.

THE late well-known sportsman, Samuel T. Tisdale, of Agawam, near Wareham, Mass., who was very hospitable to his friends, always brought out for visitors a two-quart black bottle, which he called his "little phial," containing London Dock Jamaica rum. On the outside were painted, in large, white letters, "1838 L. D. J. R." It was the boast of Mr. Tisdale that this "little phial" had never been empty while in his possession. It is now the property of Gen. Dwight Faulkner, of Plymouth, who continues to take pride in the inexhaustibility of the bottle.

THE origin of the feud between John R. McLean, of Cincinnati, and Senator Pendleton is thus stated: McLean is warmly attached to his sister, the wife of General Hazen. Some years ago Mrs. Hazen meeting the Pendletons at some reception or social gathering, received the impression that they meant to snub her. She told her brother about it. He was young and fiery, and in his indignation over the fancied slight of his sister, resolved to bring Mr. Pendleton down a peg or two. He told his sister that he would do it, and he has devoted a good many years to the fulfillment of that promise.

THE new winter overcoats for the Philadelphia police have stripes on the sleeves, indicating in all cases where such is the fact that the wearer has served in the United States Army, and also the length of service on the police force. A single strip of narrow red braid encircling the sleeve above the wrist designates the veteran soldier, and a light blue braid stripe is conferred for each three years of police service. One member of the Reserve Corps, who has been a patrolman for twenty-seven years, has quite a row of stripes. The police of Boston and New York are receiving similar decorations.

THE SALINGER CASE.

The examination of A. Salinger, father of the Messrs. Salinger, clothiers, continues at Lafayette. The item of importance so far is that he admitted he had sold about $3,000 to his sons at Fort Wayne four years; had shipped goods to them always over the Wabash road; various draymen had hauled them, any drayman he could get; had not shipped any goods to them from the depot direct; had purchased some goods from his sons, probably three or four hundred dollars worth this season; the Fort Wayne store was not a branch of the one here; nor did he do the buying for them; didn't send all the goods by freight, some small packages were sent by express; sent forward bills with each lot of goods.

WITNESS was required to give the dates, items and prices of goods shipped to Salinger Bros. at various times. He shipped them to Fort Wayne, because he didn't need them particularly here, but was buying at the same time the very same kind of goods for his own business. The boys paid him mostly cash, sometimes checks. They were charged with $4,500, and credited with thirty odd hundred dollars got the money either by cash or check, whenever one of the sons was here on a visit. The last payment was a check.

Thanksgiving Day.

The occasion was observed in this city with some degree of sorrow, occasioned by the death of Vice President Hendricks. In the churches, however, services were held and many people attended divine worship. At noon attention turned to turkey and families sat down in pleasant reunion to feast and give thanks to Almighty God for the blessings of a year.

The saloons were all open and turkey, salads and other toothsome dishes were spread before people who smile on the tempting stuff that down many a good man.

The day passed quietly and nothing occurred to mar the serenity of the occasion.

They Gave Thanks.

Frank Drubat and Amelia Theek, George Chas and Mary Allen, Henry Harris and Core Miner, Otto G. Klinckenberg and Emma C. King, Wm. C. Bender and Nancy J. Nicholson, Thomas Garver and Millie Baughmann, Abel Murchard and Jennie Erving, Albert W. Bunn and Carrie Adams have been licensed to wed.

"Lay thy sweet hands in mine, and trust in me," he said, but she only remarked that she had neuralgia and must hold her head. Then he bought her a bottle of Salvation Oil for twenty-five cents. Now he holds her sweet hands by the hour.

Everybody for Munson.

"Charley Munson, of Fort Wayne, one of the best fellows on the face of the terrestrial globe, is a member of the governor's staff, a comrade of Major Jack Parks. His friends presented him with an appropriate military badge the other day, and took the occasion to testify their kind feelings for the recipient. Mr. Munson will be before the next democratic state convention as a candidate for auditor of state, and will be a formidable candidate, both at the caucus and the polls. He has legions of friends throughout the state," says the Peru Sentinel.

CATARACH

Is a very prevalent and exceedingly disagreeable disease, liable, is neglected, to develop into serious consumption. Being a constitutional disease, it requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acting through the blood reaches every part of the system, effecting a radical and permanent cure of catarrh in even its most severe forms. Made only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

CATARACH

We differ in creed and politics, but we are a unit all the same on the desirability of a fine head of hair. If you mourn the loss of this blessing and ornament, a bottle or two of Parker's Hair Balsam will make you look as you did in the dear old days. It is worth trying. It is the only standard 50c article for the hair.

It is astonishing how fast the reputation of a good article will travel. Note the success of the Richmond Straight Cut Cigarettes.

Bold Midnight

Robbery.

A Bank Cashier's Desperate and Determined Fight.

A Dreadful Struggle!

Calmly Facing Death But Refusing to Yield.

A Heroic Man's Last Words.

The west has produced many heroes, but it never produced a braver one than the bank cashier, who last night smiled as the cold muzzle of a revolver was pressed to his temple and calmly said to the burglars surrounding him: "You may kill me but you can never induce me to open that safe."

The clock had run over midnight and with the exception of a few roysters returning to their homes, the streets were deserted. Down at the bank burned a solitary gas jet, and the watchman who had passed a half hour before saw the cashier leaning over his books trying to unravel a mysterious shortage that had been noticed the day before.

Hist! What is that? There are foot-steps, but the cashier hears them not. With stealthy steps these men crouch behind a pillar less than a dozen feet away from the busky cashier. The cashier moves and as he does so three pistol barrels gleam in the dim light. "Throw up your hands," is the command that suddenly makes him aware of the men's presence. Up go his hands.

"What do you want?" he stammers. "Money," was the significant reply. And then, winking at his pals, the leader of the band continues. "Me and my pals are going to a wedding tomorrow and want cash to buy ourselves Dress Suits with." Now open the safe or give us the combination. "No, I'll do neither" was the defiant reply of the cashier as he gazed carelessly at two pistols covering him and a third pressed against his temple.

"I'll not open the safe nor I'll not give you the combination. If you want new clothing take my advice and go to the Banner Clothing House. They have reduced their prices so low that you can get the finest suits at their real value. And while you are about it look at their Overcoats and Underwear. A few dollars expended there will dress you all in magnificent style. At this moment two mice which were courting on the burglar alarm happened to touch off the instrument and the burglars dashed out of the building. Hurrah for the Banner Clothing House, No. 27 Calhoun street.

In addition to knocking out high prices they have enabled me to knock out three burglars.

I'll not open the safe nor I'll not give you the combination. If you want new clothing take my advice and go to the Banner Clothing House.

They Gave Thanks.

JOURNAL OF PROCEEDINGS

Of the Common Council of the City of Fort Wayne.

REGULAR SESSION, NOV. 24, 1885.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

We have referred the resolution of Councilman Tresselt, asking for the refunding of taxes on the sidewalk on Gay street at the city attorney directing him to report to the council at this meeting upon the liability of the city in said claim.

JOHN MOHR, JR., Com. on Finance,
C. ELY, Com. on Finance,
R. MICHAEL, Com. Ass't & Tax
H. C. BERGHOFF, City Treasurer.

Concurred in.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

We, your special committee, to whom was referred the report of the civil engineer relating to the Watemuth claim, report that by said report we find that had that been the case, in accordance with the original profile it would have been practically of no benefit. We find that as it has been built Mr. Watemuth has ample fall for cellar drainage. We know that during the time of construction he has complained to the authorities; after its completion and estimate granted, he voluntarily paid his assessment, as did all his neighbors, and now to refuse him out of the treasury the money that he is entitled to, would be unjust and particularly unfair to all tax payers, and particularly unfair to assessed for said severance. Besides it would set a precedent which if followed would leave the city an empty treasury.

PETER J. SCHEID, Com.
HENRY COLECKR, City Attorney.

Concurred in.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

We, your committee on streets, with city attorney, respectfully report in the matter of the estimate for grading and paving the south side of Calhoun street from Harrison street to Columbian street.

Resolved, That if any contractor shall build or city engineer accept any new building different from the one proposed by the city engineer, it will be to the disadvantage of the city.

DENNIS O'BRIEN,
Street Commissioner.

Adopted.

CONTRACTS AND BONDS.

The contract and bond (which is recorded in full in Contract and Bond Book 5, page 53, and is a part of these minutes) of George H. Moore, engineer, concerning a sand pit on the southwest corner of Calhoun and Grand streets, was submitted. Bond, $50. Surety, Charles W. Jacobs.

On motion the contract was accepted and bond approved.

THE CITY.

"Alone in London" at the Temple to-morrow night.

Tony Denier's Pantomime troupe show at the Temple December 1.

Misses Flora and Allie Sowle, of Angola, are visiting the Misses Newell in this city.

Mrs. Sophia Myers, of Fort Wayne, is visiting at Decatur, the guest of Miss Ella Spangler.

Mrs. Woodworth, the evangelist, is at Columbia City and there are now chances for that village.

Hon. I. D. G. Nelson, the state house commiss oner, was in the city, the guest of his son, Sheriff DeGroff Nelson, Thanksgiving day.

There will be a meeting of the Y. P. A. F. C. in the lecture room of the First Presbyterian church this evening. All young people are invited.

Mrs. Geo. DeWald and Miss Mamie are visiting friends at Lafayette. Miss Mamie will stop at Peru en route home to be the guest of a lady friend.

"Father Thomas O'Leary, of Fort Wayne, was assisting Father O'Reilly in holding 'Forty Hours Devotion' services," says the Valparaiso Messenger.

Fred Smith has been appointed night master at the east Pittsburg yards to succeed Wm. T. Curry. Geo. Westley succeeds Mr. Smith as assistant yard master.

"We, Us and Co." was given to a very large audience at the Temple last night. There are funny situations in the play, but the show people are tart. This elaborate criticism will suffice.

Mr. and Mrs. James Fox celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding this evening. Conveyances will carry friends from the Fox parlors to the suburban home of the good people out on the St. Joe road.

Building permits have been allowed to A. H. Carier to erect a one story frame house, on lot 292, Hanna's addition, to cost $1,000, and Humphrey & Gerow to construct a one story storage building, on lot 230, Calhoun street, to cost $50.

Miss Cora S. Tanner is one of the beauties of the American stage. She is statuesque of figure and is a winsome and attractive actress. Her success in "Alone in London" has been complete and she has taken the position of a star with perfect ease.

The Ohio lumber pool, comprised of the Nickel Plate, Indiana, Bloomington and Western, Ohio Southern, Hocking Valley, Lake Erie and Western, Peoria, Decatur and Evansville, and the Bee Line, will probably be reorganized and enlarged at the beginning of 1886.

H. W. Mordhurst's handsome store building nears completion. He has an elevator in the extensive drug store and to-night at 6 o'clock water will be shut off on Calhoun street from Main to Wayne and Calhoun to Clinton street, to connect the water mains with the new drug store.

"Word has just reached us that Joseph King, so well known here, met with an accident a day or two since while engaged in bailing hay at a point south of Fort Wayne, which cost him the loss of sight. We learned no further particulars," says the Roanoke correspondent of the Huntingdon Herald.

"Several Thanksgiving turkey dinners will be given to day in this place, one of which will be by Mr. and Mrs. George B. Richhart. Thomas J. Logan, of Fort Wayne, a brother of Mrs. Richhart, arrived this morning to participate. Other relatives and friends were to be there also," says the Warsaw Times.

"The republican papers in the Twelfth congressional district of this state are worried about Judge Lowry's renomination for congress in that district. They talk of trotting out Judge Chapin, of Fort Wayne, as a candidate against him. Judge Lowry will get there again and don't you forget it," says the Valparaiso Messenger.

The courts have decided that township trustees are entitled to one dollar per day for each day actually employed as overseer of the poor. As scarcely a day passes but what a trustee is not in some manner called upon to relieve the distressed of his township. Under this decision suits are being instituted in almost every county in the state by retired trustees for back pay.

The boys of the Brothers school gave a very pleasant entertainment at Library Hall last evening. Hon. Charles McCulloch and Mr. John Mohr, jr., prefaced the exercises with a piano duet, that was well received. Rt. Rev. Bishop Dwenger was present and a most agreeable evening was enjoyed. The costumes were from Chicago and the young masters did nicely in their historical roles and vocal selections.

Fred C. Boltz is at Chicago.

The county commissioners meet Monday as gravel road directors.

Mr. B. M. Holman passed Thanksgiving with his family at Wabash.

Mary J. Williams has been discharged as cured from the state insane asylum.

Charles F. Shaw has sold to Peter Eggeman lot 56, Northside addition, for $1,600.

Mr. W. W. Rockhill, the city clerk, was at Huntington to eat Thanksgiving turkey.

The Baptists will hold a social and reunion in the lecture room of their church this evening.

Hon. and Mrs. T. P. Keator were at Coesee yesterday and feasted on turkey with a friend.

Dr. Peters is again out of the insane asylum and is working his acquaintances at Richmond for liquor.

C. M. Jones, a clerk in the Pittsburg freight office, returned yesterday from a two weeks visit with his parents at Owego, New York.

The Empire Mills Tea gang, who did a snide prize package business in the Mayer house, are now at Grand Rapids working the unsophisticated.

The Wabash will make a low rate to Indianapolis for parties wishing to attend Vice President Hendrick's funeral, and if enough goes on any one train will attach one or more through cars.

The team of Gessler, the East Main street butcher, ran away from his place of business and he was not able to control them until they had arrived at the Coldwater road above the French brewery. No damage done.

The indications for the lower lake region, as reported by the weather bureau at Washington to THE SENTINEL, are as follows: Cloudy weather and local snows, stationary followed by slowly rising temperature, variable winds.

"While at Fort Wayne last week on business, one of our citizens invested in a package of prize tea, and became the proud possessor of a beautiful open-faced solid nickel watch," says a Fremont, (Ind.) correspondent of the Angola Republican.

Mr. James Rodgers, superintendent of bridges of the Nickel Plate, entertained a party at a game dinner last evening. To say they did the lay out justice feebly expresses it. There was nothing left to tell the tale, and Charley Knight will bear us out in this.

The Masonic Temple association met Saturday night and agreed to accept $5,000 in liquidation of the damage occasion by Hugh Hueston & Co., who failed to complete the Temple according to their contract. C. H. Aldrich was empowered to collect the sum.

All newspapers of the country contradict the story of Iowa papers that Mr. Mason Long has fallen from grace. Mr. Long is more active and earnest in his good work than ever and THE SENTINEL has wiped out what prejudice existed against the temperance evangelist.

The fair at St. Mary's school hall closed last night with a spirited contest for a silk flag between the Catholic Knights of America and the German Benevolent society. The Catholic Knights won the silk emblem by a thousand votes and it will float in front of the handsome Sir Knights.

"A. A. Chapin is spoken of favorable by the republicans as their standard bearer in the next congressional race in this district. Pshaw, you can't fool Augustus into anything of the kind, he knows the district too well," says the Rome City correspondent of the Kendallville News.

"Bishop Dwenger, of Fort Wayne, officiated at the Catholic church in this city last Sabbath. The attendance was quite large and all speak in the highest terms of the bishop's sermon. In fact, it is said to be one of the best ever delivered in the Catholic church of this city," says the Decatur Democrat.

"There were two wrecks on the Grand Rapids road last night. One at Fountain City, where a freight car had been pushed from the side track upon the main track where it was struck by an incoming train and knocked from the track. At Avilla train No. 15 broke into three pieces. The last two sections came together causing a wreck.

"Alone in London, or A Woman Against the World," Robert Buchanan's latest effort, will be given in this city at the Temple theatre to-morrow evening, and is evidently a great success. It is well constructed so far as the plot and situations are concerned, is much above the common-place in dialogue, and the acting is almost without a fault; for such a drama it would be hard to get a more capable company. The scenery is most profuse.

"A company of Fort Wayne gentlemen, consisting of Hon. Montgomery Hamilton, Sid Lombard and Ed. Fleming, visited Rome City lakes on a fishing tour, and they were rewarded handsomely for their visit and swore they would come again. This place is a first-class resort for sportsmen, and then possibly you can kill two birds with one stone.

Fish until you get tired and then make a few delegations for the next congressional race," says a Rome City correspondent of the Kendallville News.

A STATESMAN DEAD.

The People of Fort Wayne Mourn for Indiana's Favorite Son.

The sad and unexpected tidings of Hon. Thomas A. Hendricks' death came like a lightning flash here and could not be realized at first. Adjutant General Koontz and his staff and members of Gov. I. P. Gray's staff declined from participating in the military bairl.

Col. J. H. Rice, auditor of state, was also here and expressed the deepest sorrow for the death of his friend.

Mr. Hendricks was on every person's lips and expressions of sorrow came from all people. The visits of the grand statesman to Fort Wayne were recalled. His magnificent reception here in 1876, and again last year were commented on. Mr. Hendricks was the guest of Hon. Mont. Hamilton on both

The Dead Vice President at His Home.

By Telegraph to The Standard.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 27.—The late Hon. Thomas A. Hendricks lies in an upper room at his home, in this city. His body has been embalmed and a cast was taken of the statesman's face by R. H. Park, the sculptor. After this came the arrangements for the obsequies, the time being determinately fixed for the coming Tuesday, at 12 noon. The casket ordered is that known as the State pattern, made of cedar, covered outside with fine black cloth, and trimmed with solid silver, the plate simply bearing the inscription "Thomas A. Hendricks, with age and date of death. Satin lining will be used for the inside. The casket was expected this afternoon, when the remains will be placed in it and taken down to the drawing-room. There the remains will stay until they are removed to the court house rotunda, Sunday noon, where they will lie in state until Monday evening, and then be returned to the residence. In state, the head will be to the east, from which side of the building observers are to enter, going

Gray, governor of the state of Indiana, do hereby issue this proclamation, requesting that at the hour of 12 o'clock, noon, of the 1st day of December, 1885, the day set apart for the funeral of the distinguished dead, all citizens meet in their usual places of worship and public places of assemblage and there engage in such services as may to them seem appropriate to the solemn occasion; the flag on all public buildings of the state be displayed at half-mast, and all places of business be closed from said hour until the hour of 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and recommending that all public buildings of the state be draped in mourning for a period of thirty days from this date, and that during the day aforesaid, all such buildings be closed and that all public business be suspended, to the end and for the purpose that the people may have and enjoy the fullest opportunity to do honor to the departed statesman and make recognition of his public and private virtues as may to them seem best and most consistent.

MILAN SCHEMING.

He Secretly Goes to Austria.

By Telegraph to The Standard.

VIENNA, Nov. 27.—It is rumored here that King Milan, of Servia, has secretly visited the emperor of Austria for the shock that comes when a man in the full possession of his powers is suddenly cut off.

The people of Indianapolis received the announcement of the death of Mr. Hendricks about two weeks ago, and at the time said that he never felt better in his life. Last week, by special invitation, he attended the fast stock show at Chicago, and was the recipient of considerable attention there in the way of banquets and receptions, returning home on Saturday somewhat indisposed. At the reception Tuesday, however, he appeared unusually cheerful, and remained much later than was his custom on such occasions.

The new of Mr. Hendricks' death spread rapidly throughout the city, and there was a general expression of sorrow over it. Those who were his political enemies here were his personal friends, and he had a pleasant word and greeting. There were crowds around the bulletin boards down town all the evening, while in the vicinity of his residence there was another crowd, all anxious to learn the particulars of his sudden demise. The evening papers could not get out extra fast enough to supply the demand.

He had been dead but a few minutes when flowers of many kinds began dropping the state, county and city buildings in black, and throughout the night similar emblems were placed on nearly all the prominent houses and residences, so that by morning the city had put on a general garb of mourning. All the city ministers will, in their Thanksgiving services, make appropriate mention of the death of the distinguished statesman, and the Rt. Rev. Bishop Knickerbocker, bishop of the diocese of Indiana, of the Episcopal church, of which Mr. Hendricks was a life-long member, will, it is understood, preach a memorial sermon.

Ex-Senator Joseph K. McDonald, who with Mr. Hendricks has shared the honors of his party in this state, said Wednesday night: "No man in his day occupied a higher or more conspicuous position in his party or in public life than did Mr. Hendricks, and very few public men have had such official contacts as he did. I think Mr. Hendricks is fairly entitled to the good name he has wrought out for himself in both public and private circles, and his death leaves a void in political and social circles in Indiana that will not soon or easily be filled."

Like expressions were heard on all sides from leading members of both parties.

Mr. and Mrs. Hendricks had lived in Indianapolis for nearly thirty years, and have been prominent in all representative social features of the city's existence. They had but one child, who died when but 3 years old, when they lived in Shelby county. For a long time they had apartments in hotels here, as Mr. Hendricks' official duties kept him in Washington much of the time. Afterward they had a residence in the northern part of the city, but about five years ago moved down town to an old family residence directly opposite the state house, where they have since lived. They entertained their friends frequently by parties and receptions, and were always at home to those who called. It was this that made Mr. Hendricks so popular, for he and his wife treated everybody cordially and courteously, and those whose positions in life were inferior were always sure of a kindly reception at his house.

Mr. Hendricks was very charitable, and calls on him for aid were frequent and never unheeded. For several years he had been actively identified with the Indiana Benevolent Society, an organization which had contributed liberally to the cause to which it was devoted, both in money and work. He had been a deacon in St. Paul's Episcopal church for a long time, and was connected with various other religious benevolent associations. Aside from his political duties he devoted much of his time to the practice of his profession, being a member of the law firm of Baker, Hendricks, and since the death of ex-Governor Baker, he has been the senior member. His practice was largely in the federal courts, and principally in railroad cases, having been employed in several cases of national importance. His long experience in legislative and governmental affairs had made him one of the best exponents of constitutional law in the country, and his opinion on questions involving this was solicited from all parts of the country. He often said that the ambition of his early manhood was to be a member of the supreme court of the United States or the author of works on law or the editor of a legal journal.

His domestic relations were of the most pleasant character, and Mrs. Hendricks, who is a brilliant and accomplished woman, was of great aid to him in his political career, as she had large and varied information and excellent judgment, besides being greatly ambitious for her husband's political advancement. Some other husband's vicious attack two years ago, both of them have been apprehended as a violation of his wife's rights, and the attachment between them has grown very strong—so sentimentally so. He often has had reason to fear in fact that he would be untrue to his wife to be away from her for any length of time. Only last week while in Chicago he accompanied Mrs. Hendricks even in her shopping excursions. They had frequently talked over his condition and the probabilities of his early death, and it was evident that for several months past there has been a growing fear of this kind on his part.

Mr. Hendricks died in his private chamber, a large, comfortable room in which he did the most of his work. Near his bed-side was a case containing legal and political works, and on his desk were his papers, memorandum, and a large number of letters which had been addressed to accumulate with a view to his use in the last two or three days. His bedding, gown and slippers were at his bedside, and near by was a small stool on which were two men's shirts and a garter. A water bottle and hand cap and terra brac addressed the walls of the room, and were in striking contrast with the quiet repose within.

Death of Hon. T. A. Hendricks.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 24.—Indianapolis mourns the death of Mr. Hendricks as she did eight years ago this month, when Senator Morton died after a lingering illness.

In the case of Vice President Hendricks, however, the sorrow is intensified by the shock that comes when a man in the full possession of his powers is suddenly cut off.

The news of Mr. Hendricks' death spread rapidly throughout the city, and there was a general expression of sorrow over it. Those who were his political enemies here were his personal friends, and he had a pleasant word and greeting. There were crowds around the bulletin boards down town all the evening, while in the vicinity of his residence there was another crowd, all anxious to learn the particulars of his sudden demise.

The facts in connection with the death of the vice president are few, for he died alone in his bed-room, where his devoted wife had spent most of the day in company with him. Last week they had visited Chicago in company with friends, returning home Thursday morning. He was not feeling well, but was about his business as usual until Wednesday, when he kept his room, being troubled with pain, in his stomach. The family physician, Dr. W. C. Thompson, who also served Senator Morton in the same capacity, was called and prescribed for him, but to the last nothing serious was feared. During the day Mr. Hendricks excused himself to callers, and Mrs. Hendricks did not leave him. Shortly before 5 o'clock, however, she was called down-stairs to receive a visitor, who detained her but a short time. When she returned her husband appeared to have fallen asleep, so peaceful was his appearance.

That he was dead was known on the street before Mrs. Hendricks fully recognized her great loss. A servant coming into the room instinctively divined that death had visited the household before Mr. Hendricks spoke. Then the family relatives and intimate friends were summoned.

Mr. Hendricks is a woman of great force of character, and in her husband's public career has been his guide, counselor and friend. The shock almost overcame her, but later in the evening she rallied and relieved the suspense and fears of friends.

An intimate friend of the family, with whom Governor and Mrs. Hendricks spent much of their time during the last six months and Wednesday night, "The governor has had a premonition of his end for several years. He died of paralysis of the heart, and it manifested itself first about the time he recovered from the attack in his toe in 1882 when he was supposed to be suffering from venile gangrene. There was a slight numbness in his left hand and side, accompanied by sharp pains in the abdominal region and he suffered at times greatly from these pains. During the summer he was not at all strong, but he never complained. He was tenacious in his devotion to Mrs. Hendricks, but one thought apparently being to give her from all possible anxiety. That the end might come at any time they both felt, and occasionally spoke of it. The vice-president said on these occasions if it were necessary for him to go he wanted to go quickly.

The manifestations of his trouble increased the last few weeks. Mr. Hendricks wished not to let out of sight of his wife, for he did not know that the end would come at any moment, and he wanted to be near her constantly. He even accepted his infirmities as a punishment for his sins, and was very charitable, and calls on him for aid were frequent and never unheeded. For several years he had been actively identified with the Indiana Benevolent Society, an organization which had contributed liberally to the cause to which it was devoted, both in money and work.

He had been a deacon in St. Paul's Episcopal church for a long time, and was connected with various other religious benevolent associations. Aside from his political duties he devoted much of his time to the practice of his profession, being a member of the law firm of Baker, Hendricks, and since the death of ex-Governor Baker, he has been the senior member. His practice was largely in the federal courts, and principally in railroad cases, having been employed in several cases of national importance. His long experience in legislative and governmental affairs had made him one of the best exponents of constitutional law in the country, and his opinion on questions involving this was solicited from all parts of the country.

He often said that the ambition of his early manhood was to be a member of the supreme court of the United States or the author of works on law or the editor of a legal journal.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

We, your special committee, to whom was referred the report of the civil engineer relating to the Waltemuth claim, report that by said report we find that had the contractor performed his contract in the manner in which he originally intended it would have been practical of no benefit. We find that as it has been left Mr. Waltemuth would have paid for certain damages. We know that during the construction of the Waltemuth bridge the contractor did not pay his men, and his assessment would add all his neighbors, how to refund him out of the treasury the money that belongs to the people would be most unfair and inequitable to all tax payers, and particularly unfair to assess for said never. Besides it would set a precedent which if followed on would leave the citizens in misery.
